

YOUNG HUNTER KILLED; TOP OF HEAD SHOT OFF

Ernest Leroy Crouse, Of - Near Littlestown, Accidentally Kills Self.

CAUGHT IN FENCE

Ernest Leroy Crouse 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crouse near Littlestown had the top of his head blown off when he received the full charge of a 12-gauge shot gun in his right eye in a hunting accident late Monday afternoon. The fatal accident occurred on his father's farm.

Crouse with other companions, hunted all day Monday the first day of hunting season in Maryland. In the morning Crouse was with a party of hunters. At noon he returned to his home for dinner. After the noon-day meal Crouse started out alone in a different direction from the others in the hunting party. In mid-afternoon he met a party of hunters and said he was returning home. He told his companions hunters that he had shot his limit for the day and was tired.

Son Is Missing
Later in the afternoon Nevin Kump, brother-in-law of the victim, returned to his father-in-law's home and inquired of Crouse. He was told by Crouse's mother that her son had not returned from the field. Kump informed Mrs. Crouse that her son had started for the house several hours earlier.

Inquiry at the home of neighbors confirmed Kump's statement that the other hunters saying they had not seen Crouse since he left them to return to the house with his limit for the day.

Further efforts to locate someone who had seen the young man later in the afternoon brought the information that a shot had been heard near the Crouse home late in the afternoon. A search of the premises revealed Crouse's body, which had been shot through the top of his head blown off, with his shotgun resting a few feet from the body. The muzzle of the piece pointed directly at Crouse's head.

Foot Caught In Fence
Further inspection revealed that Crouse's foot was caught in the fence. A careful examination of the ground and the body brought the belief which is almost substantially confirmed by circumstantial evidence at the scene of the fatal, that Crouse in attempting to crawl over the fence became caught in the cross-pieces. He is then believed to have attempted to extricate his foot from its wedged position in the rail-fence ignoring his shotgun which he carried in his hand.

Members of the hunting party are of the belief that Crouse did not pay any attention to the position of his gun while he attempted to free his foot from the fence and in some unknown manner caused the gun to accidentally discharge. The full shot of the shotgun entered Crouse's right eye blowing the top of his head off. He had been dead for some time when the body was found.

He is survived by his grief-stricken parents three sisters and two brothers Mrs. Nevin Kump and Mrs. Clinton Wintrobe of Littlestown, Carrie Edwin and William at home. He was an employee of the Littlestown foundry.

Philadelphia Girl Rents Plane for Leap to Death

Victim Is Philadelphia Girl
Miss Rockwell was a Philadelphia girl who went to New York three months ago to visit her brother Daniel. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean W. Rockwell of 2224 Spruce street. Her father is an official of the Belbet Trunk company.

Her parents said Monday night they had visited her last Saturday and attempted to persuade her to accompany them back to Philadelphia.

She was a graduate of the South Philadelphia high school for girls and completed her course at the Diez school, Camel N. Y. last June. Her 17th birthday anniversary was in September.

Mr. Rockwell said his daughter had suffered recently from eye trouble and that affliction had made her melancholy. She was a quiet girl he went on and inclined to be moody.

Bullets Play Last Home Contest Here on Saturday

C. E. Bilheimer athletic director at Gettysburg college announced today that 600 seats had been reserved and are available now for Gettysburg fans for the Franklin and Marshall football game Thanksgiving Day. The entire Lancaster section has been sold out, Mr. Bilheimer said and a request has been made to return some of the Gettysburg tickets to Lancaster to fill additional applications. Mr. Bilheimer said that the block of 600 tickets reserved for Gettysburg fans would be kept here for ten days, at which time the remaining pasteboards will be returned to the athletic director of Franklin and Marshall.

Not only will it be the last home stand of the Gettysburgians but it will be the last chance friends of Captain Eddie Gulian will have to see him in action. The genial pilot of the Bullet retires after this week's contest. Then too it will be Fathers Day at Gettysburg and more than 450 fans are expected to be at the Battlefield institution for the two-day program. Lebanon Valley at one time considered a set up for the Bullets now boasts one of the strongest and fastest teams in the Annyville schools' history and they are bent on turning back the men of Bream in their last home stand. With the exception of the Thanksgiving Day battle with Triumf and Marshall Coach Bream is more concerned over the approaching clash with Lebanon Valley than he has been over any previous contest. The Annyville warriors have an enviable record this year. They are big and fast possess a terrific driving power and are chuck full of trick and deceptive plays that are bound to give the Bullets plenty to worry about.

While this week's clash will not have any bearing on the conference title the young men of the Gettysburgians are anxious to win this Saturday's battle. Then will come a ten-day rest period before the closing game for the year at Lancaster. With the large delegation of fathers expected here for the game a large throng is expected to follow the Lebanon Valley team here for the contest. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

From one of the letters she was identified as Ruth Rockwell, of Crestwood, N. Y.

E. F. Booth, pilot of the plane from which she leaped, said the girl chartered his craft for a fifteen-minute flight.

When they were 1500 feet up, he said, she inquired their altitude and motioned him to go higher. Booth mounted to 2000 feet.

"Then I felt the plane rise as if we had struck some rough air," he said. "I turned and saw the door was open. Through it I caught a glimpse of my passenger's body hurtling through the air. It was about twenty or thirty feet away."

A handbag which Miss Rockwell left in the plane contained the three notes.

"Most people end their lives because something sad has happened to them," one of them said. "I end mine because it seems not only futile, but wrong, to go on existing. I blame no one and feel that I have no enemies."

In other portions of the notes the girl expressed her "regrets" to "Miss Sheers in Drew seminary, Cornell, N. Y.," and directed that "Mrs. Rockwell, West Home Bureau, Tuckahoe, N. Y.," be communicated with.

Victim Is Philadelphia Girl

Miss Rockwell was a Philadelphia girl who went to New York three months ago to visit her brother, Daniel. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean W. Rockwell, of 2224 Spruce street. Her father is an official of the Belber Trunk company.

Her parents said Monday night they had visited her last Saturday and attempted to persuade her to accompany them back to Philadelphia.

She was a graduate of the South Philadelphia high school for girls and completed her course at the Drew school, Carmel, N. Y., last June. Her 18th birthday anniversary was in September.

Mr. Rockwell said his daughter had suffered recently from eye trouble and that affliction had made her melancholy. She was a quiet girl, he went on, and inclined to be "moody."

Sunday morning Mrs. Rockwell received a birthday gift from her daughter and immediately wrote her thanks. Both parents said it was the first time Miss Rockwell had been in an airplane.

The Crestwood (N. Y.) address given by Miss Rockwell was said to be that of her brother.

Bullets Play Last Home Contest Here on Saturday

C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director at Gettysburg college, announced today that 600 seats had been reserved, and are available now, for Gettysburg fans for the Franklin and Marshall football game, Thanksgiving Day. The entire Lancaster section has been sold out. Mr. Bilheimer said, and a request has been made to return some of the Gettysburg tickets to Lancaster to fill additional applications. Mr. Bilheimer said that the block of 600 tickets reserved for Gettysburg fans would be kept here for ten days, at which time the remaining pastebards will be returned to the athletic director of Franklin and Marshall.

Not only will it be the last home stand of the Gettysburgians, but it will be the last chance friends of Captain Eddie Gullian will have to see him in action. The genial pilot of the Bullet retires after this week's contest. Then too, it will be Fathers' Day at Gettysburg and more than 450 fathers are expected to be at the Battlefield institution for the two-day program.

Lebanon Valley, at one time considered a "set-up" for the Bullets, now boasts one of the strongest and fastest teams in the Annyville school's history and they are bent on turning back the men of Bream in their last home stand.

With the exception of the Thanksgiving Day battle with Franklin and Marshall, Coach Bream is more concerned over the approaching clash with Lebanon Valley than he has been over any previous contest. The Annyville warriors have enviable record this year. They are big and fast; possess a terrific driving power and are chuck full of tricky and deceptive plays that are bound to give the Bullets plenty to worry about.

While this week's clash will not have any bearing on the conference title the young mentor of the Gettysburgians is anxious to win this Saturday's battle. Then will come a ten-day rest period before the closing game for the year at Lancaster.

With the large delegation of fathers expected here for the game a large throng is expected to follow the Lebanon Valley team here for the contest. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

J. FRANCIS YAKE DIES SUDDENLY MONDAY EVENING

Prominent School Teacher Attended First Session Of Institute Here.

MODEL SCHOOL

J. Francis Yake, 63, prominent Adams county school teacher, died suddenly at his home, Oxford road, McSherrystown, at 10:45 o'clock, Monday evening, of a heart attack.

Mr. Yake, who had been a teacher in the schools of Adams county since October 3, 1887, attended the first session of the Adams county teachers' institute here, Monday, apparently in his usual health.

After returning home from Gettysburg, he ate a hearty supper and then transacted business for a short time away from home, returning about 8:30 o'clock. He retired about 10 o'clock without complaining of illness, but a short time later he told his wife he had a pain in his head.

When his condition took a turn for the worse, Dr. M. J. Brennan, of McSherrystown, was summoned, but the stricken man was beyond medical assistance.

School Was Standard. He was a son of the late John and Anna Alwine Yake, of Adams county, and after attending school in Oxford township, he began teaching in Mt. Pleasant township, where he remained four terms. He later served eleven terms at Irish-town, and since then he has taught in Conewago township, where he was also supervising principal.

In 1907, the school taught by Mr. Yake was awarded a pennant for a county standard school, the first and only one in Adams county.

On Town Council

Active in politics for many years, Mr. Yake served on the McSherrystown town council since 1907. He also served as burgess and as secretary of council. In the recent election, he was elected to the McSherrystown school board.

He was a member of the McSherrystown council of the Knights of Columbus and of the Conewago and Hanover beneficial societies. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state educational association and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Funeral Saturday

He was married to Miss Johanna A. Hemler, of Hanover, June 6, 1893, who survives together with three children, Miss Mary Iona Yake, Miss Elizabeth Golda Yake and J. Francis Yake, Jr., all at home.

Brief funeral services from the Yake home, Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock, with solemn requiem high mass at St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown, at 9 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. L. A. Reutter officiating. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery, McSherrystown.

3 INJURED AS CAR UPSETS AND RIGHTS ITSELF

Prominent Williamsport Men Figure In Peculiar Accident Near Here.

ONE NOT HURT

Three residents of Williamsport, returning from the races at Piquette, near Baltimore, Monday evening, were injured when the automobile in which they were riding left the Baltimore pike, seven miles south of here, and then righted itself.

A fourth man, driver of the car, escaped without a scratch or bruise. R. W. Thorne, president of the Radiant steel products company, Williamsport, was the most seriously hurt, suffering a probable fracture of the skull, concussion of the brain and a lacerated ear.

F. W. Speaker, a teller in the Lycoming trust company, Williamsport, had his right arm and left shoulder blade broken.

One Not Hurt. W. Krauser, Thorne's chauffeur, suffered concussion and a severe scalp laceration.

Seth T. McCormick, proprietor of the Susquehanna Trail garage, Williamsport, who was driving Thorne's high-powered touring car, escaped injuries. After the machine upset and then righted itself again McCormick was the only one of the quartet in the car.

The injured were brought to the Warner hospital in the Gettysburg ambulance where their injuries were dressed. Today their condition was reported to be good.

According to McCormick, he was at the wheel of the machine for the homeward journey because Krauser, Thorne's chauffeur, had a finger pinched in a door of the car in Baltimore and was unable to drive.

Blinded by Lights

Near the place called "Mud College" on the Baltimore road, McCormick said he was blinded by the lights of an approaching automobile, and drove off the hard-surface highway. When he attempted to bring the heavy machine back onto the improved road, the wheels skidded on loose stones and the car turned over.

The machine, which had been run only 800 miles, was badly damaged and was towed to a local garage.

YOUNG FATHER HANGS HIMSELF IN FARM BARN

James V. Cool, 30, Despondent Over Ill Health, Takes His Own Life.

FATHER OF TWO

Melancholy, it is said, since he submitted to an operation for appendicitis during the summer, caused James Vincent Cool, 30, to commit suicide by hanging himself in the barn on the farm of R. C. Taughinbaugh, New Oxford R. 1, this morning.

Mr. Cool had been in ill health since the operation, and was not able to work as actively as he had before, according to reports.

He went to the barn about 7 o'clock this morning, presumably to feed the livestock. His body was found about an hour later by Mr. Taughinbaugh, owner of the farm, who resides in New Oxford.

Steps Off Ladder

He had tied one end of a rope to a ladder in the barn, noosing the other end around his neck and then stepped from the ladder. He was dead when found.

He was born in Adams county, near Emmitsburg, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William P. Cool, who now reside near Chambersburg.

Surviving besides his parents are his widow and two children, Janet, aged 3, and Harold, aged 15 months, and the following brothers and sisters:

Ambrose, Hagerstown; Charles, Waynesboro; Benjamin, John, Andrew, Mrs. Norman Gipe, Mrs. Mary Gipe and Mrs. Lucy Wolf, Chambersburg; Mrs. Clara Bowling, Waynesboro; Mrs. Blanche Ott, Bethlehem; Miss Helen Cool, Chambersburg, and Miss Bessie Cool, Harrisburg.

START ACTION TO HALT COUNTY TOLL CHARGES

Chamber Of Commerce Engages Counsel To Work With Committee.

OTHER PROTESTS

Preliminary steps toward vigorously opposing any increase in county toll rates by the Cumberland Valley Telephone company, if the proposed merger with the local Bell exchange is approved by the Public Service Commission, were taken by the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce at a directors' meeting in the Hotel Gettysburg, Monday night.

A resolution of protest was adopted, a committee of two, with full power to act, was appointed and an attorney engaged to give legal advice in the protest to be filed with the Public Service Commission.

The Cumberland Valley exchange proposes to charge a toll for phone calls to certain districts in the county, if its merger of the Bell exchange here is approved. John W. Brehm and George L. Taylor were appointed on the committee of protest and Attorney Eugene V. Bulett, of the law firm of Keith and Sheely, was retained as counsel.

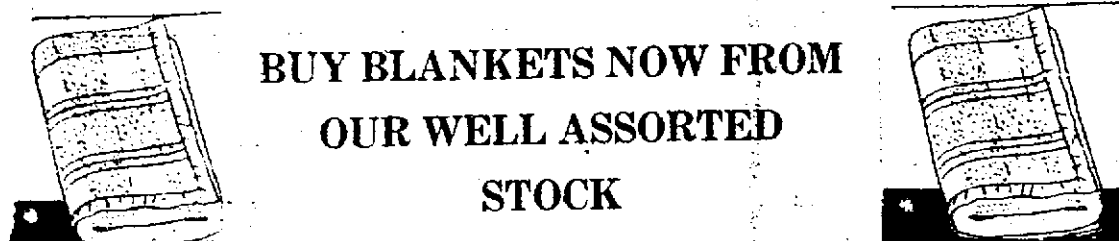

Adopt Resolution

The resolution of protest follows: "Whereas, the Cumberland Valley Telephone company of Pennsylvania has or is about to make application to establish a toll rate of ten cents per call from Gettysburg, Adams county, Pennsylvania, to New Oxford, and to Littlestown in said county and other toll rates between other points in said county, conditioned upon its acquisition of the telephone system of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, situate in Adams county, and Whereas, the Chamber of Commerce of Gettysburg believes that any such toll charges would be contrary to the best interests of the citizens of Gettysburg and the citizens of Adams county, and would be unjust to such citizens and would constitute unfair discrimination against such citizens, and is unjust and unwarranted and unreasonable, (Continued on Second Page)

Dickinson Frosh

The Gettysburg academy team played the Dickinson college freshmen to a standstill here Saturday, the sixty minutes of battle ending in a 6-6 score. Both teams played brilliant ball, the visitors scoring in the second quarter when, after Lapinski, star fullback, intercepted a forward pass on the thirty-yard line, he was then given the ball on six successive plays to take it across the line for the touchdown.

Gettysburg received the kickoff at the beginning of the second half and did not surrender the ball until after they had crossed the last chalk line. Line bucks and passes formed the main offensive in this drive, the score being made when Witmer threw a pass to Scully who went across the line.

Thousands Visit Grave of
Priest to Cure Many Ills

Malden, Mass., Nov. 12 (AP).—Cardinal O'Connell, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, alone and unannounced, today visited the grave of the Rev. Patrick Power in Holy Cross cemetery where during the past week thousands of persons have sought relief from bodily ills in the shrine's reputedly miraculous qualities.

The cardinal would make no statement of the purpose of his visit. He stood quietly for a few minutes watching the hundreds of persons, many of them crippled and otherwise ill, file to the grave and pray. Many of these had remained awake most of the night outside the cemetery gates and several hundred had gathered there before caretakers had swung open the barriers to admit them.

The cardinal was joined by his brother, Edward J. O'Connell, superintendent of the cemetery. They then left the grave to visit the cemetery chapel where they remained for a short time after which the cardinal left.

Before noon it was estimated that the crowd had increased to more than 25,000. The pilgrims came in private automobiles, in special street cars and in buses. They were lined up in a long file that stretched far through the cemetery

Service Here Today

Mrs. T. J. Winebrenner presided at the Week of Prayer service held at the Y. W. C. A. at noon today. The musical program was given by Mrs. N. L. Horn and Mrs. C. N. Gitt. Miss Anna Reck and Mrs. H. C. Picking were in charge of the luncheon. Mrs. Charles Sanders will preside at the Wednesday noon service and the luncheon will be served by Miss Ella Gilliland and Mrs. Virginia Horner.

VISUAL AIDS

(Continued From Page One) to pass over a lesson until it has been visualized for the children. The aim should be to have the teacher use more ideas of visual and other sensory materials in order to make instruction more real to the child. The child is more interested in the concrete than in the symbolic and the abstract.

"Visual aids include apparatus and equipment, school journeys, object specimens and model materials and pictures. Results of such instructions include economy, the enrichment of vitalization of education and the development of correct mental impressions."

Dr. Hoban then showed pictures of the properly dressed man of 1905 and 1925, and the teachers were subjected to the test of contrasting the two.

After group singing led by Professor Bland, the teachers heard an address by Dr. Garry C. Myers on the theme "Are We Building or Destroying Personality?"

Give Child A Chance

"You and I would amount to a great deal more if it were not for the fears we have," he said. "Every now and then, a mother or father will ask a child, who is shy, to speak up, protecting the family reputation at the time. But we too often use others to exploit ourselves. Let the child alone, and when he feels more comfortable he will express himself."

"Do not laugh at the child, for no one should smile at the ignorance of others. Children usually smile at the mistakes of others. The teacher should not make sarcastic remarks about the recitation of some person to make the class laugh. It is just as dangerous to use dynamite. This seems to be a greater fault in the high school."

"We do not want others to think we are afraid. Teachers should not ask questions they know the child cannot answer, to show the child's inferiority and the teacher's superiority."

"Teaching is not a matter of matching wits between teacher and child. When the teacher puts himself in the position of a mere detective, he is using poor psychology. The child who is allowed to express himself is the happiest."

and out into the adjacent highway. There were scores of mothers carrying crippled youngsters.

So great had been the pressure of the crowd over the week-end when it was estimated more than 200,000 persons visited the shrine, that cemetery caretakers found it necessary to build a short fence around Father Power's grave. This had an opening on two sides and pilgrims were allowed to enter and pray one at a time. Scores of them dug up soil by the fistful and carried it away with them.

HANOVER FIRM
PAYS MORE TAX

Sheppard And Myers Ordered To Pay Additional Income, Profits Tax Of $6,437.17.

The firm of Sheppard and Myers, of Hanover, manufacturers of shoes, must pay to the government an additional $6,437.14 in income and profits taxes for the year 1921, under a ruling handed down by the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals.

The Hanover firm appealed to the board from a notice of the commissioner of internal revenue that it still owed that amount.

The difficulty arose over the taxes paid in the year 1917 by the two firms controlled by H. B. Sheppard and C. N. Myers. The two men owned all the stock in the corporation that manufactured the shoes, and were also the only partners in the business that purchased the shoes from the corporation and retailed them.

Both the corporation and partnership made separate returns and paid separate taxes in 1927, but in December, 1920, the commissioner informed the men that they would have to file a consolidated return for 1917, which they did in January, 1921.

At the time of the audit of the consolidated return one of the officers of the corporation told the commissioner that they had known they would have to file a consolidated return they would have asked that all the taxes for that year be assigned to the partnership.

An additional tax was found to be due when the consolidated return was received. The commissioner agreed to allocate that to the partnership, but refused to allocate the taxes already paid on both returns for 1917 to the partnership.

"The alleged abnormality here was voluntarily created," said the board in its opinion. "If there was any hardship it resulted from the free election of the petitioner to conduct its business in the way that was deemed to be most advantageous to itself."

PRICES CRUMPLE
ON EXCHANGE IN SELLING RALLY

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—Prices of leading stocks broke sharply to new low levels for the year on the New York stock exchange today when the brief rally which followed an opening decline quickly ran out. Scores of issues were carried down two to 20 points while American Express, making its first appearance since January 1, dropped 106 points a share below the previous quotation.

Total shares in the first two hours were 4,200,000 as contrasted with 1,600,000 in the same period yesterday with the ticker running nearly an hour behind the market. The flood of selling was a continuation of the sharp decline late yesterday.

The banking group held no meetings during the morning and it was said that none was contemplated for today as the situation was not regarded as serious.

START ACTION

(Continued From Page One) "Therefore, be it resolved by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, that the Chamber of Commerce of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, is opposed to any increase in or additions to the existing telephone toll rates in Adams county, and "Be it further resolved that John W. Brehm and George L. Taylor be and they are hereby authorized and requested to take any and all steps which they may deem necessary and proper for protesting against the establishment or allowance of any additional or other toll rates in Adams county before the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

Other Protests The committee will confer with Mr. Bullett and will join with the Chambers of Commerce of New Oxford and Littlestown in their protest.

D. W. Sloops and L. E. Carbaugh, of the Fairfield district, attended the meeting as representatives of the Liberty Rural Telephone company, which is an affiliated Cumberland Valley rural company of sixty-six subscribers covering the Fairfield-Emmitsburg-Gettysburg area.

They will meet at a later date and in all likelihood will join the Chambers of Commerce of Gettysburg, New Oxford and Littlestown in the fight against the proposed county toll charges.

GRANGE SCORES
YORK COUNTY FAIR

Dillsburg.—Resolutions condemning the York county fair as a place unfit for many people, and especially for children, and calling the gambling concessions on the grounds an insult to decent people, were adopted at the quarterly meeting of York County Pomona grange, held Saturday at Dillsburg. The resolutions charges that officers of the law on the grounds condoned the actions of the "lawless element," and states that the Pomona grange will cease to exhibit at the fair "until the Agricultural society shall give to the people of York county and city a clean agricultural fair."

BOYS ROB MATRON
AND RUN AWAY
FROM HOME

Chambersburg.—No word has been received at the Children's home in Chambersburg of two boys, Robert Stouffer and Walter Miller, both about 16 years old, who ran away from the home Thursday. Search by police failed to locate them.

The boys left the home clad in their overalls, as they had completed their morning's work and had not yet donned their school clothes. When the order came for every child to get ready for school, Walter and Robert were found missing.

Upon searching the premises for the boys, a purse belonging to the matron, Mrs. Anna Briggs, was found standing open with the contents, approximately $40 to $50, gone.

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

SYNOPSIS: Longing to see Ray, Barbara has drifted into the habit of frequently going to the Golden Dollar. Seated at a secluded table, she watches him play in the orchestra and lead his own selection and, with Rita, bow to enthusiastic applause. A friendly waiter tells her Rita has been helping Ray with his compositions. Then Barbara overhears a conversation and learns Ray is writing the score for a revue in which Rita is to have a principal part. Convinced Rita and Ray are in love, Barbara makes the most unwise decision of her whole life—to divorce Ray and make him free to marry Rita.

Chapter 38 AN UNDERSTANDING

BARBARA'S note reached Ray the same morning and that afternoon he was late in keeping an appointment with Rita. The moment she saw him she knew instinctively that something untoward had occurred. But she did not question him, and for the moment he volunteered no information. After a few perfunctory remarks he seated himself at the piano and commenced to play. But jazz was not in his heart. After he had bungled a couple of tunes he swung around abruptly on the piano stool. "I'm going to be free soon, Rita. A bachelor once more."

A proposal from Ray—but a strange intuition spoiled Rita's happiness.

She glanced towards him quickly. "You've heard from your wife?" Her voice was unusually sharp. "This morning. She intends divorcing me somewhere in Mexico. I believe it takes no time down there." A pause. Rita had no means of telling from his face what he was thinking. "You're—you're not going to contest it?" There was a hint of breathlessness in her voice. "Of course not," sharply. "It was agreed when we parted that she was at perfect liberty to do this, should she want to." "But you didn't want her to, Ray?" He stared down at the butt of his cigarette. "No, frankly I didn't." "I'm—I'm sorry." He fidgeted with the piano keys, rubbing a knuckle along the yellow tinged ivory. Then, abruptly, without warning, he started to play, improvising as he went along, breaking finally into the "Grievin' Blues," the song he had written the night he and Barbara had separated. He was playing it harshly and crudely, making those jazz notes vibrate through the little sitting room with its basket furniture and its faded cretonne covers. Thumping down on the closing notes, he remarked: "Some memories, that song, eh?" Sitting on the day bed, she nodded. Her eyes softened, thinking of the night she had first sung it at the Golden Dollar. Through it she had started Ray on the high road to fame. "Sort of introduced us, that song, didn't it?" she said aloud. "Yes," absently. Not of Rita but of Barbara he was thinking—Barbara, months back, sitting alone in the drawing room, while, in the little room above her, he had improvised that song. "Is there another man in the case, Ray?" "Most likely. If there is it's my own fault. Still, as she's waited so long, it seems sort of ironic that this should have come now, when I'm about to get my chance." He suddenly bent his head and beat one closed hand on his forehead. "There's no sense in wishing." Silently she came around to him and put one arm around his shoulder.

"Why did you leave her when you love her, Ray?" Irritably he threw his fist down hard on the piano keys. "Because it was impossible living with her in the degrading, dependent way I did. Her friends used to regard me as a luxury. I wanted to prove to them I was something more than just the man Barbara Landon had bought to amuse her. I guess things are best as they are. She didn't understand my point of view, and I suppose I didn't get hers. We loved each other but we made each other miserable. Funny how you can go on loving a person whom you fail hopelessly to understand." Rita nodded. She was too wise to attempt to argue with him. That, she knew, to be one of the insoluble mysteries of life. He worked solidly for the remainder of the afternoon, doggedly and persistently. Yet, at the end of several hours, he had accomplished little. Presently, when twilight had faded to silver dusk, she went out into the kitchen to make him a cup of tea before he set out for the club. She set the little tray on a wicker table beside the piano. Ray, noticing it suddenly, pulled her towards him. "Rita, you dear sport, you. You've a heart about the size of a pumpkin. If it hadn't been for you I'd never

Women Have Something to Say! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has ridiculed into oblivion that ancient prejudice which excluded women from a voice in council. Today, in millions of homes, the delicious flavor of LUCKY STRIKE fills the room as the family group respects the opinion of its women folk.

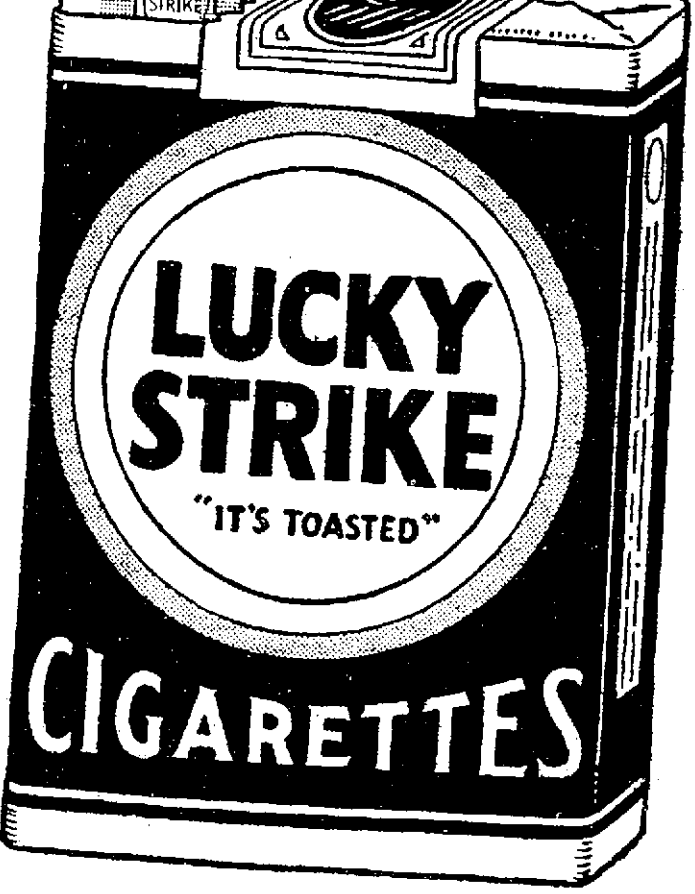

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

have put those tunes across at the club. In fact, I'd still be tooting a sax without a hope in the world of doing anything better for years and years. . . . And I'm sure certain I'd never have written this score without your help. You've been a wonderful pal . . ."

He broke off abruptly, his voice grown husky.

She wasn't looking at him. Presently, hearing a suspicious sniff, Ray crossed over to her and, putting a hand under her chin, he raised her face to his.

"Why the tears, Rita? I haven't said anything that's hurt you?"

"Of course you haven't said anything that's hurt me, you old silly."

"Then why . . . ?"

"Nothing. . . . It's just . . ."

A sort of tentative pause. He drew her closer.

"Rita, you like me, don't you?"

She tried to smile, to think of some wise remark, but it would not come.

"Sure."

"You like me a whole heap?"

She nodded, one hand playing with the lapel of his coat. She knew she could not speak without making a fool of herself, so she did not.

"Well enough to marry, once I'm free? I know this is a stupid time to ask you, dear, but I've thought lately you care."

The hand, that had been fingering his lapel, crept up around his neck, crept up and held him to her tightly. She clung to him for many minutes without saying a word.

He looked down at her tenderly, affectionately, knowing by the trembling of her body close to his, the short convulsive sobbing that shook her, what she had been sport enough to keep from him all these months. That she loved him.

Tenderly his own arms went about her. He told himself he loved her, but with a love fundamentally different from his love for Barbara. A saner love, maybe, the outgrowth of friendship, of mutual interests.

"That's settled, eh, Rita? Directly I'm free," he said aloud.

She nodded, but she continued to cling to him closely, as though, even in those moments, some inner sense warned her to take full measure of this happiness of hers.

Women Have Something to Say! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has ridiculed into oblivion that ancient prejudice which excluded women from a voice in council. Today, in millions of homes, the delicious flavor of LUCKY STRIKE fills the room as the family group respects the opinion of its women folk.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Academy Ties
Dickinson Frosh

The Gettysburg academy team played the Dickinson college freshmen to a standstill here Saturday, the sixty minutes of battle ending in a 6-6 score. Both teams played brilliant ball, the visitors scoring in the second quarter when, after Lapinski, star fullback, intercepted a forward pass on the thirty-yard line, he was then given the ball on six successive plays to take it across the line for the touchdown.

Gettysburg received the kickoff at the beginning of the second half and did not surrender the ball until after they had crossed the last chalk line. Line bucks and passes formed the main offensive in this drive, the score being made when Witmer threw a pass to Scully who went across the line.

Thousands Visit Grave of
Priest to Cure Many Ills

Malden, Mass., Nov. 12 (AP).—Cardinal O'Connell, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, alone and unannounced, today visited the grave of the Rev. Patrick Power in Holy Cross cemetery where during the past week thousands of persons have sought relief from bodily ills in the shrine's reputedly miraculous qualities.

The cardinal would make no statement of the purpose of his visit. He stood quietly for a few minutes watching the hundreds of persons, many of them crippled and otherwise ill, file to the grave and pray. Many of these had remained awake most of the night outside the cemetery gates and several hundred had gathered there before caretakers had swung open the barriers to admit them.

The cardinal was joined by his brother, Edward J. O'Connell, superintendent of the cemetery. They then left the grave to visit the cemetery chapel where they remained for a short time after which the cardinal left.

Before noon it was estimated that the crowd had increased to more than 25,000. The pilgrims came in private automobiles, in special street cars and in buses. They were lined up in a long file that stretched far through the cemetery

TEN YEARS AGO

Lay Weidensall Corner Stone.

"We pray the blessing of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, as we lay the corner stone for the foundation of the Robert Weidensall Y. M. C. A. building consecrated to the moral and religious development of the students of this institution and to the advancement of His Kingdom."

As she said these words Mrs. G. N. Lauffer, of Altoona, president of the General Woman's League of Pennsylvania college, tapped three times on the corner stone with a silver trowel Thursday afternoon to dedicate the corner stone of the Robert Weidensall Y. M. C. A. building.

Dr. J. George Becht, Deputy State Superintendent of public instruction, introduced by John F. Dapp, delivered the main address of the ceremony.

Led by the college glee club the audience opened the service by singing the Doxology. Mrs. Strouse, of Baltimore then read the eighty-fourth and ninety-ninth psalms and Mrs. H. W. A. Hanson, of Harrisburg, followed with prayer.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies Dr. Robert Weidensall, of Chicago; in whose honor the building is named, pronounced the benediction.

Rev. J. B. Baker, of Gettysburg, delivered a short address on the "Challenge of the Ministry," at the Brua chapel meeting.

Martz-Keller.—At the Reformed parsonage in Fairfield Thursday afternoon, Miss Bertha L. Keller, of McKnightstown, became the bride of Carl R. Martz, formerly of Cashtown, who is now employed at the People's Drug Store.

Rev. Clark Heller, of the Fairfield Reformed church, performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Martz are now on a wedding trip to Harrisburg and Philadelphia.

Carl R. Martz, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Martz, of Cashtown, is a member of the Washington Camp of the P. O. S. of A., at Cashtown. Ancient Order of the Knights of the Mystic Chain at Gettysburg, and the Majestic club, Gettysburg. During the war he served in the Motor Transport corps at the University of Pittsburgh.

County People Wed at High Noon

—At high noon today the wedding of Miss Mabert Musselman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Musselman, of Fairfield and J. Clair Sowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sowers, of McKnightstown, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Guy B. King, uncle of the bride, of New York city, assisted by the Rev. W. S. Bonnell, pastor of the Fairfield Lutheran church. The ceremony was witnessed by only the relatives and a few friends.

The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march.

Tannhauser, played by Mrs. Harry Meuller, Baltimore, an aunt of the bride. William Troxell, Gettysburg, acted as best man, and Lorain Musselman, Millersville Normal, maid of honor. Jean Newman was ring bearer and Virginia Mueller flower girl. Preceding the ceremony, Richard Clouser, Harrisburg, sang "O Promise Me."

The groom is employed at the Gettysburg Times Office.

Name Post After Gettysburg Boy.—Armistice Day was fittingly celebrated by the Gettysburg Post of the American Legion on Tuesday night.

Starting with the business session and ending with speeches at the smoker in the Order of Independent American banquet rooms the celebration was further enlivened by a splendid dance given by the Legion in Xavier Hall from 9 to 12.

At the suggestion of John W. Hartman, chairman of the American Legion here, the members decided to name the Gettysburg Post in honor of Albert Lentz, the first Adams county boy who died on the battlefields of France.

The most enjoyable part of the Legion smoker was a fifteen minute address by Theodore McAllister, of Gettysburg, introduced as "one of the most heroic and picturesque figures in southern Pennsylvania and the character of man who enabled the Union to emerge victors in the great civil strife."

Albert Lentz post passed a vote of thanks to the Order of Independent Americans and Father W. F. Boyle for the use of their halls for the smoker and dance, to the Majestic club for the frequent use of their rooms for meetings, to John D. Lippy, Jr., for valuable assistance in decorating Xavier Hall for the dance, and to David Yohe, chairman of the social committee, for the efforts of himself and assistants, which made the affair a success.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

PEACE OFFERINGS

It's been this way with him and me.
We've had our spats as most folks do.
But when I get to thinkin' he
Was 'bout the meanest man I knew.

An' wishin' we had never met
He'd bring home something, an' then
His foolish temper I'd forget
An' go to lovin' him again.

It's always happened! Sure as fate
When I was angry as could be
An' plainin' up a lot of hate
He'd do some thoughtful thing for me.

When I'd about made up my mind
That life with him I couldn't stand,
That night when he'd come home
I'd find
A box of candy in his hand.

He has his faults an' so have I,
But forty years we've stuck it out.
Somehow the twinkle in the eye
Has always driven away the pout.

Something to me he'd always bring
Which he had seen along the way
To serve as a peace offering
And I'd decide with him to stay.

UNANSWERED PRAYER

Do you grant his every whim
Out of your great love for him?
Do you, knowing well his needs,
Grant him all for which he pleads?
As his father, day by day
Do you let him have his way?

Father tender, loving, wise,
Though you see his teary eyes
And you hear his anxious voice,
Do you make the sterner choice
And at times deny his plea
For the good he cannot see?

Must you not at times appear,
To the boy you love, severe?
When some pleasure you prevent
Does he doubt your good intent
And believe you do not care
Since you answer not his prayer?

When we cry as children small
To the Father of us all,
May He not deny our plea
For the good we cannot see
And let all our prayers seem vain
For the future's greater gain?

Slim Pickens has received his new pair of pants through the mail, and they fit very well considering that he sent a hpoto instead of his measurement.

Poke Eazley came home from the moonshine still house on Gander creek last night in such bad condition his wife threatened to fasten him up in the pig pen.

The wife of Sim Flinders was given a surprise birthday party yesterday and got many valuable presents, including a bag of meal and a dressed hen. Jeff Potlocks is now trying to get his wife to have one.

Sile Kildew rode from here to Bounding Billows in an auto with a tourist last Wednesday, and Sile says the thing went so fast he couldn't even check it by pressing his feet right hard against the foot-board.

Columbus Allsop says moving his family from one place to another is awful expensive, as every time they change locations they lose two or three bed rollers.

Raz Barlow goes to church at Hog Ford, and while he cannot get up and talk like some of the rest, or sing, he can raise as big a noise as any of them when they ask him to put some more wood in the stove.

Little Jack Rabbit

By David Cory

It's a lovely bright morning, sure's you're born.
There goes Cocky Doodle's little tin horn.
Wake up, little bunny, or else you must pay
The Rabbit Chauffeur for waiting all day.

sang Bobbie Redvest just outside the little bunny's window. That was mighty nice of that little bird,—very kind and con-sid-er-ate, to say the least. If he hadn't sounded his cheerful warning no doubt the little rabbit would have slumbered on and maybe forgotten to call for Uncle Dave Cory, who had spent the night, as mentioned in the last story, at the Turnip Square Hotel in Rabbitville. Yes, sir, the first person that morning who was to meet Uncle Dave was to be the kind apple duck woman, who came every day at noon time to the Rabbitville Daily News Building with

Apples and pears and raspberry tarts,
Yellow bananas and peppermint hearts,
On which there was printed in pretty red ink
Bits of lovey-dove poetry. Wait, let me think.
Oh, yes, here is one I'm sure you will like;

"The lollypop's sweetest when mel-low and ripe;
And clover tops nicer when sprinkled with dew.
But nothing is sweeter nor neater than you."

There, I did remember one particular verse, although it was way back on St. Valentine's Day that I first heard it. But you boys and girls who are reading this story, yes, you just wait till next year. Maybe I can then persuade that nice apple duck woman to send you all some lovely peppermint Valentine hearts.

"What will you have, little rabbit?" she asked, for by this time, although I've been too busy to mention it sooner, even with the help of "Remmy," my faithful typewriter friend, the little rabbit had dressed himself, eaten his Clover Cereal, hopped over to the Turnip Square Hotel for Uncle Dave Cory and then down to the Rabbitville Daily News.

"Have you a lettuce sandwich or a clover lollypop?" cried the little bunny in answer to her question. He was always ready for something to eat,—all rabbits are like him, you know,—all have splendid appetites.

"Indeed I have, Bunnikins," answered the kind Apple Duck Woman, with a smile at Uncle Dave, who at once thrust his hand in his pocket for a handful of pennies. But, gracious me! she wouldn't take them, No, sireebus. She handed them back and poetically remarked,

"Copper pennies are no good.
They won't buy bread and honey.
Pay me in rabbit carrot cents,
I use that kind of money."

Where you live a Lincoln Cent
May buy a pound of tea,
But here in lovely Rabbitville
It isn't One, Two, Three!"

"Gracious me! What shall I do!" exclaimed anxious, crestfallen Uncle Dave, who never before in his life had experienced difficulty in buying candy with copper pennies. Ever since a boy no one had ever refused to accept from him copper pennies or copper cents or thousand dollar bills, especially thousand dollar bills!

"I must go to the bank and exchange my money for Rabbitville coin," he said, half aloud, when—but what happened after that will be told in the next story, so, good-night and pleasant dreams.

"Old Farmyard!" shouted the Gander Conductor on the Bunny-bridge Trolley Car. Out hopped the little rabbit and out jumped Uncle Dave Cory, who, as was mentioned in the last story, was on a visit to Rabbitville. Hitching up his knapsack and giving a swing to his red-striped candy cane, the little bunny hopped through the gate and into the farmyard. But, gracious me! Old Sic'em, the Farmer's watch dog, wouldn't let Uncle Dave come in. Wasn't that too dreadful for anything? Well, everybody would say so, especially as he had come all the way from goodness knows where to visit Rabbitville.

"Oh, dear, and, Oh dear!
What shall I do?
I'd never have thought
Such a thing of you."

This is Uncle Dave Cory,
I'm proud to say.
Are you really going
To drive him away?"

cried the unhappy little bunny.
"No siree, Mister Man!" cried a voice, and there stood the Kind Farmer in a straw hat and blue overalls.

At once Old Sic'em wagged his tail and barked joyfully. "Howdy, Uncle Dave!" went on the Kind Farmer, stretching out his hand. "Come in and make yourself at home."

Well, you'd be surprised to know how nice he was when he learned that Uncle Dave had come all the way from the big city to visit abbitville. He told his wife to get out the apple pie and cookies, and while the good woman was placing the plates and paper napkins on the table, he read three jokes aloud from an old almanac! Perhaps they would have emptied the cookie jar and looked through the family al-bum, if, all of a sudden, Cocky Doodles hadn't begun to crow on the kitchen doorstep.

"Gee Willikins!" exclaimed the Kind Farmer, wiping his mouth with the back of his hand forgetting in his excitement the nice clean paper napkin by his plate. "Can you see through the keyhole, Cocky Doodles? You must be standing on tiptoe!"

Well, would you believe it, even if you had been there? the little rooster answered;

"Oh, yes, I see a little rabbit. His cane and knapsack, too. I'm sure his mother washed his face And combed his curly que."

He looks so very neat and trim,
And has so sweet a smile,
I'm sure that Uncle Dave will stay
And visit us awhile."

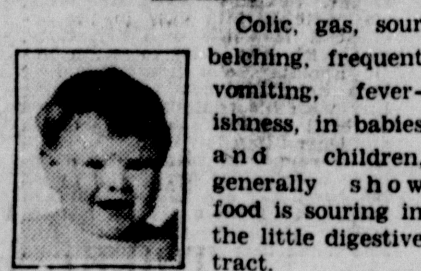

But, gracious me! by this time it was growing late,—too late for the little rabbit to linger longer Lucy, as the old song goes. So bidding the Kind Farmer goodbye, the little bunny and Uncle Dave hopped on the trolley and started back to Rabbitville, where Uncle Dave was to spend the night at the Turnip Square Hotel.

"I'll call for you tomorrow," cried the little rabbit, when the trolley stopped in front of that famous hotel. Then away he hopped for the dear Old Bramble Patch clipperty clip, lipperty lip, his knapsack bouncing up and down on his back and his red striped candy cane swinging from his left paw. And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

Camels are for knowing smokers!

It's just too bad if any smoker because of misinformation denies himself or herself the pleasure of CAMELS.

New smokers are not always in a position to have a real preference in cigarettes. But when they acquaint themselves with Camels they develop that sense of discrimination that leads to real smoking pleasure. Camels are made so carefully and of so good a blend of choicest cigarette tobaccos that even those with inexperienced smoking taste quickly recognize their superiority. They are for those who appreciate the taste of choice tobaccos, the fragrance of a perfect blend and the soothing mellowness of a really satisfying cigarette.

when they learn the difference they flock to Camels

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEWS ADAMS

THE LITTLE OLD COUNTRY SCHOOL

WHAT a precious memory is that of the little country school to which we walked each day in youth. That small building that was enshrined for us, far from the crowded streets, hidden from traffic, and set upon a hill among the trees, in the midst of squirrels, wild birds, and flowers of the open country.

I received one of those rare thrills recently when I visited the little school at Dearborn, Michigan, that Henry Ford has restored—the little school in which he once studied, and on one of whose seats he had at one time carved his initials. I sat in that seat and saw a duplicate of the reader he had once studied, and in which he had written his name.

The room was full of tiny pupils, taught by a young man. Songs were sung for the visitors, led by a diminutive chap who will some day be a real leader of some sort. Those little students squirmed and twisted in their seats, whispered, laughed out loud, and did all the stunts of common knowledge so long ago, but now so clearly remembered. Fifty years from now those little people will visit a school of like nature and smile with satisfaction—many of them at that time real leaders in the world.

I can still hear that little bell at recess, calling us back to study. Those "after school" talks of the teacher (for being bad) are now embedded in my mind as fresh as yesterday.

The little old school in the country was a training place for character as well as for the mind. The freedom of independence of the country were things that spurred and inspired. On my way to work in the big city, I pass by schools that have only busy streets for yards. What a heritage the pupils of the country carry about with them all through their lives!

America and most of the world are rich in their schools—but none are more precious than those tiny ones that dotted the rolling hills and that stood back from the winding roads of the past.

Some of our greatest men and women once taught in that little old school in the country. God bless it forever!

325 KIDDIES KILLED IN STATE

Fatalities Of Children Under
14 Years Of Age Run High
In First Nine Months.

Three hundred and twenty-five children under the age of fourteen years lost their lives in traffic accidents in Pennsylvania in the first nine months of 1929, according to figures made public by the Keystone Automobile club. In addition to the fatalities, 5,467 children were injured, many of them crippled for life.

"This alarming situation calls for serious attention and action," said Edward P. Curran, safety director of the club. "Our citizens must be awakened to the tragic consequences of the inertia that apparently has taken root in the public mind with respect to traffic accidents. It is a grave mistake to assume that accidents are unavoidable and make no attempt to correct conditions."

Parental Guidance

"One of the principal factors to be considered is parental guidance. Without this, other measures for the protection of children must inevitably fall short of expectations. If children are not instructed in safety in the home and given object lessons by the conduct of their parents in crossing streets, the toll of deaths or injuries will continue to be exacted. It is futile for a father or mother to talk safety and act recklessly."

"Safety education in the schools is of major importance in confirming and augmenting home instruction. The parent who constantly sets an example of recklessness can hardly expect, however, that the school influence will completely convert his child to safety practices. Safety patrols are of the highest value not only in the actual safeguarding of children during school hours, but in keeping the safety idea constantly fresh in their minds."

A German corporation has formed a company in the Philippine Islands to build houses of steel and copper to replace nipa and wooden houses. Shipment of tree trunks from California in 1929 decreased 7,000 cars to a total of 12,000, it is estimated. Willamette valley horticulturists have demonstrated that at least three varieties of figs can be grown in Washington.

THRILLING
ROMANCE

"THE SECRET OF MOHAWK POND"

WEIRD experiences crowded Peggy Prescott's thirty-day stay at Mohawk Pond lodge from the first moment she crossed its threshold in obedience to a peremptory clause in her uncle's will.

She went entirely unprepared for the stirring adventures and the determined efforts of unknown enemies to drive her from the place and thus lose her inheritance—and certainly she did not expect to find romance on this sinister Connecticut mountainside.

"The Secret of Mohawk Pond," a smashing mystery romance by one of America's most popular authors, is being serialized for the first time.

ACID Slams More Doors than Temper!

"Touchy" and grouchy husbands are often only sick men! It's acid in their systems speaking when they bark and growl.

Acidity is due to our unnatural eating, excessive smoking and irregular hours. The excess acid causes acid indigestion with gas, sourness and burning. It sets up putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines which spreads poisons through the system and often results in sick headaches, nervousness, irritability, and depleted energies.

New-Type Magnesia

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany. As an acid corrective it begins where bicarbonate of soda and milk of magnesia leave off.

This new improved magnesia comes in the form of a small, white tablet, called Magnesia Oxids, which do not have to be chewed, but may be swallowed whole. Magnesia Oxids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen. Now, as any doctor will tell you, active oxygen when created within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity.

It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and acids the natural movement of the bowels.

All three effects are necessary to a real correction of acidity and Magnesia Oxids supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

5-day Acid Test

See for yourself how much acid has to do with your indigestion, your cranky spells, your blue days and sleepless nights. Make this 5-day acid test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxids from People's Drug store or any other druggist on our money-back guarantee. Take two after each meal for five days. Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the new peace of your stomach and nerves. If five days' test doesn't show you a decided improvement in your spirits and health, return the balance of the Oxids to your druggist and he will refund your money.

Bad Stomach Cause of Bad Skin

You can't expect to have a good clear fresh-looking complexion if your stomach is weak and disordered.

Undigested food sends poisons
through your whole body, pimples appear in your face, skin grows sallow and muddy and loses its color.
Your tongue becomes coated, breath most unpleasant. But these troubles will end quickly and skin clear up if you will start today taking that simple herbal compound known to druggists as Tanlac.

Tanlac contains nothing but herbs, barks and roots which have a cleansing, healing effect on a poor upset stomach. Just a teaspoonful before each meal stimulates the digestion naturally so that you can eat what you want without fear of distress. And when your stomach is in good shape again see how much keener your appetite is—watch how quickly skin begins to grow free of disfiguring eruptions. The cost of Tanlac is less than 2¢ a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today.
Money back if it doesn't help you.

Millions of Safety Symbols

Each year more than 120,000,000 labels of the Underwriters' Laboratories are attached to various articles, devices and materials used by the American people.

Many of your housekeeping utilities —much of the equipment which serves in the homes, stores, factories, offices, schools, theatres and other public buildings—bear the well-known Symbol of Safety—the label of Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.—because they have earned that right through severe test and inspection.

Manufacturers Co-operate

In co-operation with many thousands of manufacturers, the Underwriters' Laboratories scientifically establish and safeguard the fire and accident hazards of many thousands of different devices and materials.

In 1928 this work involved nearly 60,000 inspections in 63 cities, hundreds of re-examinations, and approximately 4,800 laboratory tests and examinations by the more than 400 engineers and especially trained employees.

A Public Service

Underwriters' Laboratories, incorporated in 1901, was established and is maintained by The National Board of Fire Underwriters. It is now the largest privately owned testing laboratories devoted to the conservation of life and property.

The principal testing station is in Chicago. It is an exceedingly interesting place to visit. Scientists and engineers from all over the world go there to see the work and examine the methods used. The public is always welcome.

325 KIDDIES KILLED IN STATE

Fatalities Of Children Under 14 Years Of Age Run High In First Nine Months.

Three hundred and twenty-five children under the age of fourteen years lost their lives in traffic accidents in Pennsylvania in the first nine months of 1929, according to figures made public by the Keystone Automobile club. In addition to the fatalities, 5,467 children were injured, many of them crippled for life.

"This alarming situation calls for serious attention and action," said Edward P. Curran, safety director of the club. "Our citizens must be awakened to the tragic consequences of the inertia that apparently has taken root in the public mind with respect to traffic accidents. It is a grave mistake to assume that accidents are unavoidable and make no attempt to correct conditions."

Parental Guidance

"One of the principal factors to be considered is parental guidance. Without this, other measures for the protection of children must inevitably fall short of expectations. If children are not instructed in safety in the home and given object lessons by the conduct of their parents in crossing streets, the toll of deaths or injuries will continue to be exacted. It is futile for a father or mother to talk safety and act recklessly."

"Safety education in the schools is of major importance in confirming and augmenting home instruction. The parent who constantly sets an example of recklessness can hardly expect, however, that the school influence will completely convert his child to safety practices. Safety patrols are of the highest value not only in the actual safeguarding of children during school hours, but in keeping the safety idea constantly fresh in their minds."

A German corporation has formed a company in the Philippine Islands to build houses of steel and copper to replace nipa and wooden houses. Shipment of tree fruits from California in 1929 decreased 7,000 cars to a total of 12,000, it is estimated. Willamette valley horticulturists have demonstrated that at least three varieties of figs can be grown in Washington.

ACID Slams More Doors than Temper!

"Touchy" and grouchy husbands are often only sick men! It's acid in their systems speaking when they bark and growl.

Acidity is due to our unnatural eating, excessive smoking and irregular hours. The excess acid causes acid indigestion with gas, sourness and burning. It sets up putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines which spreads poisons through the system and often results in sick headaches, nervousness, irritability, and depleted energies.

when created within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and acids the natural movement of the bowels.

All three effects are necessary to a real correction of acidity and Magnesia Oxids supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

5-day Acid Test
See for yourself how much acid has to do with your indigestion, your cranky spells, your blue days and sleepless nights. Make this 5-day acid test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxids from People's Drug store or any other druggist on our money-back guarantee. Take two after each meal for five days.

Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the new peace of your stomach and nerves. If five days' test doesn't show you a decided improvement in your spirits and health, return the balance of the Oxids to your druggist and he will refund your money.

THRILLING MYSTERY ROMANCE

"THE SECRET OF MOHAWK POND"

WEIRD experiences crowded Peggy Prescott's thirty-day stay at Mohawk Pond lodge from the first moment she crossed its threshold in obedience to a peremptory clause in her uncle's will.

She went entirely unprepared for the stirring adventures and the determined efforts of unknown enemies to drive her from the place and thus lose her inheritance—and certainly she did not expect to find romance on this sinister Connecticut mountainside.

"The Secret of Mohawk Pond," a smashing mystery romance by one of America's most popular authors, is being serialized for the first time.

HOW MUCH

Is Incorrect Wheel Alignment
Costing YOU—

DO YOU KNOW?

Here's what eventually happens when
you disregard mis-
alignment. Play safe—
use the Indicator.

Any one of a dozen everyday occurrences, such as pinching the curb in parking, impacts in traffic, driving in car tracks or ruts, or natural wear may throw your wheels out of alignment.

Misalignment causes excessive tire wear, waste of power and hard steering. Avoid these troubles by checking your alignment frequently on our

NEW WEAVER WHEEL ALIGNMENT INDICATOR

Simply drive over the Indicator—the hand on the dial shows number of feet per mile side-slip of tires, caused by incorrect wheel alignment.

We've installed this new machine for your benefit. Please use it—there's no obligation, of course.
